21st Century Communications

The speed of technology and communications in the 21st century can sometimes be overwhelming. Between email, social media, blogs and smart phones, it can be hard to keep up with all the information coming at us every day. However, instant information is valuable and necessary when running a successful business.

The Division has been working diligently to increase and enhance our utilization of online and social customer service. Many of you have recently received phone calls from our staff to acquire or confirm your email address. If you haven't heard from us yet, you will soon. Please be sure that the email you provide is at the store level (rather than corporate) and is checked frequently by the appropriate personnel.

Your email will only be used for official Division communications to notify licensees and customers of procedures, policies, upcoming events and other necessary information. The Division will not share your email with outside entities. We will be reducing the amount of communications that are sent out through the mail or delivered with orders, so it important that we have alternate ways to reach you including email and social media.

The efforts to improve communications are driven by my belief that customer service must be a top priority. I want your feedback in the coming months on how the Division is doing and what information you need from us in order to be successful. Providing your email address will allow you the option to participate in surveys, submit comments and ask questions, all of which will help the Division provide you with better customer service in every area. Crowd-sourcing customer ideas assists us in knowing what you want and serves customers by giving you a voice in the future of this agency.

Providing the Division with your email will also allow us to notify you of new online services coming in the future such as online ordering and pricing information. Moving more of the Division's services online will give licensees better, faster and constant access to our resources. Moreover, online and social customer service allow us to serve you on the networks where you are already spending time. It also helps the Division be more efficient, reducing the cost of government and saving tax payer money.

In addition to the email communications, visit IowaABD.com, Facebook.com/ABDIowa and Twitter.com/IowaABD for instant and vital information such as delivery delays, holiday schedules, new laws, product availability and pricing promotions.

I do realize that a small percentage of licensees have limited internet access. Online and social customer service does not replace traditional customer service methods. Email, social media and interactive tools enhance and supplement long-established communication channels.

I am looking forward to seeing improved effectiveness of the Division's online communications and the increased efficiency it can provide. But most importantly, I welcome these tools improve our customer service and satisfaction.

Sincerely,

Stephen Larson

September 10-12, 2013
Des Moines, IA

Day or Night CLICK IT OR TICKET!

The Iowa Governor's Traffic Safety Bureau and the Iowa ABD would like to invite you to join us in promoting traffic safety. Nearly 23 percent of traffic fatalities last year in Iowa were attributed to drivers impaired on alcohol or other drugs.

Impaired driving crashes are preventable. Great concepts such as Designated Drivers and Call a Cab programs are innovative approaches to solving this nationwide tragedy. Remember that it is illegal to text while driving. Please help in our quest to protect all Iowans from impaired drivers during the upcoming Memorial Day festivities and summer season.

Don't forget: drive sober or get pulled over and buzzed driving is drunk driving. More information such as printed materials and DVDs are available. Visit IowaGTSB.org or these other impaired driving information websites: NHTSA.gov, TrafficSafetyMarketing.gov and StopDruggedDriving.org.

Claire Celsi

Iowa Alcoholic Beverage Commission
Vice-Chairperson

HOMETOWN

Des Moines, Iowa

AT THE IOWA ABC

Appointed as a Commissioner in 2010

FAVORITE ASPECT OF THE COMMISSION

I enjoy the formation of public policy. It fascinates me to see something come together that the Commission was a part of.

FAVORITE PASTIMES

Keeping in touch with friends through social media and hanging out with friends and family.

What are your duties as a Commissioner?

As Commissioners we attend quarterly meetings and serve as a guiding body through policy making and in approvals or reviews of policies, plans and rules set by the Division. We are also liaisons for the Division through our work with communities throughout the state. We promote the value of having alcohol being controlled by the State and to educate others on the importance of the three tier system.

benefit the people we serve. Another aspect of the Commission I enjoy is hearing recommendations on how we can enhance the programs we have in place or create new programs that the people of Iowa would like to see. Hearing these recommendations allows us to see things from a different perspective and gives us the opportunity for change.

What is your full time job?

I am the Director of Public Relations at Lessing Flynn in Des Moines, Iowa. I work with clients on strategic planning and crisis management while developing and implementing public relations, social media programs and introducing new media.

What do you do in your free time?

In my free time I enjoy spending time with my husband Jim and our four children. I am a graduate of Drake University, here in Des Moines, so I enjoy supporting their different programs such as choral concerts, plays and sporting events. When I am not out supporting Drake I like to travel around Iowa and see all of its interesting sites. One of my latest adventurous was visiting Antique Archeology in Le Claire, Iowa.

What is the best part about being on the Commission?

One of the best parts about being on the Commission, for me, is meeting people that work in the alcohol industry and on the prevention side. Being able to talk with these individuals and hear their success stories is motivating for me to keep working and pushing forward on new and innovative ideas to help

RUM

PREMIXED COCKTAILS AND LIQUEURS

BY JACK ROBERTIELLO

Note: This excerpt is printed with permission from the July/August 2012 issue of StateWays—the Beverage Alcohol Merchandising Magazine for Control States.

AS MUCH AS ANY OTHER CATEGORY, RUM LENDS ITSELF TO EXPERIMENTATION IN FLAVORS, OF COURSE, BUT ALSO IN PRESENTATION.

Take Bacardi Classic Cocktails Light, a new line of low-calorie, ready-to-serve beverages. Bacardi has long offered RumRummers, Hurricanes, and other rum-based cocktails in ready-to-drink variations, but latching onto the low-calorie drinking option now, the company has joined forces with mom, actress, and party host Busy Philipps to promote the drinks.

Light seems to be the new favorite rum enhancement. Malibu Caribbean Cosmo Light replaces the brand's Caribbean Cosmo offering, although the other flavors of Malibu cocktails continue to be sold—Tropical Sea Breeze, Tropical Mojito, Rum Punch, and Melon Margarita.

Of course, ready-to-drink cocktails are not the only enhanced way to drink rum. Brands like Castries Peanut Rum Crème Liqueur from St. Lucia and RumChata, a cream spirit reminiscent of the Mexican almond-based beverage horchata, have found favor among many consumers as a chilled after-dinner drink or even a cocktail ingredient. RumChata is bottled from a made-from-scratch cream liqueur recipe that uses Caribbean rum and Wisconsin dairy cream with a touch of natural cinnamon, vanilla, sugar, and other flavors. Brand owners are also promoting RumChata Iced Coffee, BananaChata, and Coconut Cream Pie Martini.

GET READY FOR INCREASED PROFITS WITH READY-TO-SERVE BEVERAGES

Help your customers get ready for the laid-back days of summer by promoting ready-to-serve cocktails, which now include appletinis, Bahama mamas, cosmos, daiquiris, “hard” lemonade, hurricanes, iced coffees and teas, mai tais, margaritas, martinis, mojitos, mudslides, piña coladas, and punches.

To make these packaged drinks taste just-made fresh, encourage people to serve them in chilled or frosted glasses. Chill glasses by placing them in the refrigerator for at least an hour; frost glasses by dipping them in water and placing them in the freezer for at least 30 minutes.

Also suggest adding simple fresh garnishes such as slices, wedges, or chunks of in-season fruit.

AMERICAN WHISKEY TRENDING UP

The popularity of bourbon and American straight whiskey continues to grow, with the introduction of new expressions, boutique bottling, and flavored offerings.

BY ROBERT PLOTKIN

Note: This excerpt is printed with permission from the September/October 2012 issue of StateWays—the Beverage Alcohol Merchandising Magazine for Control States.

AS THE ADAGE GOES, PEOPLE DRINK IN GOOD ECONOMIC TIMES AND BAD. IT SEEMS ESPECIALLY TRUE FOR THE AMERICAN WHISKEY CATEGORY, which according to the Beverage Information Group grew an impressive 3% to 15.7 million 9-liter cases in 2011. [In the control states, American straight whiskey gained a more robust 4.5% overall.] Prosperity will eventually return, but the question remains—will American whiskeys continue to successfully compete with other spirits on the world stage?

“We’re excited about the growth potential for the American whiskey category,” says Chris Bauder, general manager of US Whiskies at Beam Global. “Consumers continue looking to expand their spirits repertoire, and with all of the bourbon innovations we are seeing, they are discovering the fantastic quality, versatility, and different tastes available within the category. There is a level of pride among the category’s pioneers, including Bill Samuels and Fred Noe, in the fact that their products stand up to Scotch and Irish whiskeys in the minds of consumers and that this uniquely American spirit is getting unprecedented demand from whiskey drinkers across the world.”

Curious about what’s behind the steady growth of American whiskeys, we polled our experts and came up with the five major trends that are behind the uptick in our indigenous whiskeys.

DOUBLE BARRELED AND WOOD FINISHED

A growing trend with the category is transferring traditionally aged bourbon from charred American oak barrels into a different variety of oak—such as French oak or maple wood—or one that was used previously to mature wine or a different type of spirit—be it cognac, sherry or port, chardonnay, etc. Whiskeys derive most of the flavor and all of their color from being aged in wood. Finishing a whiskey in a different type of wood is an artisanal twist that greatly affects the flavor of the finished product.

LIMITED-EDITION RELEASES

Few things pique consumer interest more than scarcity. It is certainly true for aged spirits. The allure for aficionados is when that lot of whiskey has been sold, it is gone and will not be replicated. It’s the category’s version of “here today, gone tomorrow.” continued on page 12 they fell in love with Des Moines, the people and Taki. After taking possession of the restaurant, they decided to keep the interior the same but change some of the menu and ingredients. Fresh fish is flown in every other day to ensure the highest quality of taste and rice is shipped in from California to give the customers the highest grade Japanese rice there is. The rice is not only used for sushi but used in the teppanyaki cooking as well.

SUSHI: IN THE RAW

What is teppanyaki? Teppanyaki is a style of Japanese cuisine that uses an iron griddle to cook food. Chefs entertain the guests with tricks of juggling utensils, flipping pieces of food into their shirt pockets, tossing eggs up in the air to split with a spatula, flinging vegetables or meat into the diners' mouths, and arranging onion rings into fire-shooting volcanoes. At Taki there are many different options for lunch or dinner that include chicken, steak, and seafood and all come with a choice of miso or clear soup, house salad with choice of gin-

The menu is also creative and fun, playing on some of the fastest growing trends (can anyone say bacon?) in the food industry. Taki has been on the leading edge of sushi creations that are altering consumer tastes and eating habits along with their creativity and presentation.

In the mood to be adventurous? Try one of their new creations called the Zombie Bacon. This unique roll boasts spicy tuna, avocado, cucumber, cream cheese, bacon (inside and out) and spicy sauce. This roll brings some heat, but it's balanced out with all the other ingredients so you don't start sweating! Need some fresh fruit in your diet? Try the Kiwi Delight. It includes spicy tuna, snow crab, wasabi, tobiko and kiwi on top. The Kiwi Delight brings a light and refreshing taste to replenish your pallet.

THE FLAVORS OF AMERICA

The resurgence of American cocktails has everything to do with delivering bright, brilliant flavors, so it's little wonder that American distillers have begun creating whiskeys and whiskey-based liqueurs with new and enticing flavor profiles. The results have been extremely well received.

Straight rye whiskeys share a common heritage as uniquely American products with enticing aromas and brilliantly flavored palates, both of which they possess in generous supply. They are whiskeys with broad shoulders and a lot of personality, a character no doubt molded from our collective national self-image. Fueling its revival is the ongoing cocktail renaissance and the rise of the mixologist.

Extended Aged American Whiskies

There is a point of diminishing returns with every barrel of aging whiskey, which means that leaving whiskey in a barrel longer doesn't necessarily mean that it will continue to improve. It's a delicate process that is as much science as it is art. That said, there are increasingly more whiskeys on the market being aged 18 years or older. Only the most careful and expensive distilling method and aging techniques can be used to create a hand-crafted whiskey of this caliber.

SINGLE BARREL BOTTLINGS

There is something compelling about a single barrel bourbon. As the name implies, the whiskey is drawn from a single barrel and when that individual cask is emptied, that's it. In short, the whiskey is a slice of life never to be duplicated.

American whiskey is constantly reinventing itself and is on track to grab an increasingly larger share of the popular limelight. They are loaded with big complex flavors and have about the most captivating aroma of any whiskey. Their mixability, affordability, and easy-to-appreciate character seem to be what consumers are looking for.

PROMOTE COCKTAILS TO SELL WHISKEY

The rich flavors and mixability of American whiskeys make them ideal for a wide variety of mixed drinks. Encourage your customers to try different brands and expressions of American whiskey in their favorite cocktails, including these popular recipes.

LEGALLY SPEAKING

KEY TO COMPLIANCE

Licensees become familiar with many of Iowa's liquor laws through the day-to-day operation of their business. Well-known liquor laws include Iowa's legal drinking age, hours of sale and the prohibited sale of alcoholic beverages to an intoxicated person. Other liquor laws may be unfamiliar to some licensees. These lesser-known laws can simply be misunderstood and sometimes licensees can be in violation without knowing it. While the following is not a comprehensive list of uncommon Iowa liquor laws, it is an easy to understand overview of laws that licensees should become acquainted and compliant with.

KEEPING TABS

Tabs and credit vouchers are illegal. Licensees may extend credit only through the use of bona fide credit cards (American Express®, Discover®, MasterCard®, Visa®, etc.). Patrons may run a tab while they are drinking in the establishment, but licensees must ensure the tab is fully paid before the patron leaves the establishment.

Exception: This law does not apply to sales by private clubs (class "A" liquor licensees) to bona fide members, or by hotels and motels (class "B" liquor licensees) to registered guests.

VAPORIZING ALCOHOL

Equipment used to vaporize an alcoholic beverage is illegal. Licensees are prohibited from selling, possessing or supplying equipment which is used to vaporize an alcoholic beverage for consumption in vaporized form.

ADVERTISING

Advertising brand names of liquor, wine or beer on the outside of the licensed premises is illegal. Licensees may not place signs or other matter containing brand names of liquor, wine or beer in the parking lot, on the outside of the building, on a sidewalk, etc.

Exception: Outside signs with specific brand names of liquor, wine or beer are legal when located in an enclosed or partially enclosed area (example: patio umbrellas with specific name brands in a fenced outdoor beer garden). Signs in an outdoor service area must face inward.

REFILLING BOTTLES

Refilling or "marrying" liquor and wine bottles is illegal. Licensees may not refill a smaller "well" bottle from a larger bottle or fill a liquor or wine bottle with less expensive product. Liquor or wine may not be watered down either. Simply put, the contents of a liquor or wine bottle may not change.

ON-PREMISES EMPLOYEES

Employing a person under 18 years old to sell or serve liquor, beer or wine for on-premises consumption is illegal. On-premises licensees must ensure that employees who sell and serve alcohol are at least 18 years old.

DRINK PROMOTIONS

Offering drink promotions based on gender is illegal. A 1989 Iowa Supreme Court decision outlawed gender-based promotions like "Ladies Night" and "Men's Night" where free or discounted alcoholic drinks or admission are offered by licensees.

Licensees who are found to be non-complaint with the above violations may face sanctions including an administrative fine, license suspension and/or license revocation in addition to criminal sanctions. The key to licensee compliance is becoming knowledgeable with Iowa liquor laws and rules. Iowa's liquor laws and rules can be found in Iowa Code section 123 and 185 Iowa Administrative Code, respectively.

Last year, the Division published the manual "Iowa's Alcoholic Beverages Laws & You," which is an easy to understand guide to Iowa's liquor laws. This publication can be ordered or downloaded at IowaABD.com. Licensees can also easily access the laws and rules on the Division's website. If you have specific compliance questions contact the Division by calling 515.281.7414.
